A dramatic scene of a castle with a large scroll and parchment in the foreground, set against a sunset sky. The castle features several towers with conical roofs and is partially in shadow. The sky is filled with dark, heavy clouds, with a bright, golden light breaking through on the right side, creating a strong contrast. In the foreground, a large, unrolled scroll with a dark red cover lies on a piece of aged, yellowed parchment. The parchment has intricate, dark markings that resemble a map or a complex diagram. The overall mood is mysterious and ancient.

The ceiling is made of dark wood beams, with several large, glowing purple crystals hanging from it. A long, dark wooden table with a decorative, carved base is on the left.
